

Clinical Research Workshop: A Deep Dive into Informed Consent

Thursday, March 23rd, 2023

8:30 am to 2:00 pm

Howard University - Louis Stokes Library

This free workshop is designed for research personnel interested in enhancing their competency in the field of clinical research. Each module will consist of didactic material and hands-on training exercises. Topics discussed will include the following:

- Informed Consent Process
- Source Documentation
- Special Populations and Vulnerable Populations

Course Objectives:

Conducting research is a life-long experiential learning process. The course objectives will:

- Provide advanced training in the methods and conduct of clinical research.
- Provide a blended-learning approach including hands-on that will enable the research staff to participate.

Register today by visiting <https://redcap.link/GHUCCTSClinicalResearchWorkshop>

The training is free. Registration is required. Breakfast and lunch will be provided.

Course Director:

Jane Otado, PhD
Director of REKS, GHUCCTS
Howard University

Course Location:

Howard University
2400 6th Street NW
Washington, DC 20059

Course Coordinators:

Sarah Vittone, DBE, MSN, RN
Mary Anne Hinkson, MBA
Shaunagh Browning, DNP, RN, FNP-BC, CRN-BC
Priscilla Adler, MBA
Claudia Gunawan, MS
Edward Bauer, BS

This program is sponsored by Georgetown-Howard Universities Center for Clinical Translational Science (GHUCCTS) - Regulatory, Ethics, and Knowledge Support Group (REKS)

